

Who are our international partners?

We're teaming up with trusted, capable international partners who

- make sure that the right help reaches the right hands.
- complement our material gifts with speaking of Jesus' love in the local language of the heart.
- regularly report to us.

Ours is a modest ministry.

We won't be able to save the world.

We can't fix Africa, (or any other place for that matter).

But we can, by God, make a difference in the lives of some fragile endangered little ones.

Become a WGLO partner and serve as the heart and hands of Jesus!

Caring Hearts Renewing Lives

With God's Little Ones (WGLO) is a non-profit corporation staffed and supported by volunteers.

We're deeply concerned about the little ones of the world—the endangered ones, the ones with no leverage. We aim to:

- Make known the needs of the little ones. Tell the stories.
- Encourage those who have heard the stories to share themselves and their resources.
- Form volunteer service projects which benefit everyone involved.

Who are the “little ones”?

Children are, of course, among the “little ones:”

- the ones sitting in the dust, dizzy with hunger
 - the first ones to get hurt when things go wrong
 - the vulnerable ones who—thank God—can hold our hearts hostage.
- The “little ones” are all those folks, old and young,
- who don’t seem to count
 - who’ve been left out, left behind
 - overlooked.

Like Jesus, we have a heart for the littlest and the least.

- We keep an eye out for the overlooked
- We-glow with Jesus’ own compassion
- We give ourselves away in their behalf.

“Whoever receives one little child like this in my name receives me.” (Matt. 18:5)

Where in the world are we?

We go where the little ones’ needs take us, sharing resources in places such as:

- Nicaragua
- Uganda
- Ghana
- Cambodia

Our volunteer service projects unfold where international partners beckon us (and where volunteer team leaders are willing to go):

- Russia
- Nicaragua
- Bethlehem
- Poland
- Slovakia
- Latvia
- Uganda

Who are our North American partners?

WGLO’s ministry is supported by people just like you, individuals and groups who

- have trouble sleeping at night because they hear children weeping.
- view themselves as incredibly fortunate.
- wish to be personally involved in clearly significant ministry.
